

That it's all about house and who happens in.

zine review of the hexagon
by robert kelly

Stars float in honey sluggish verjuice of mead.

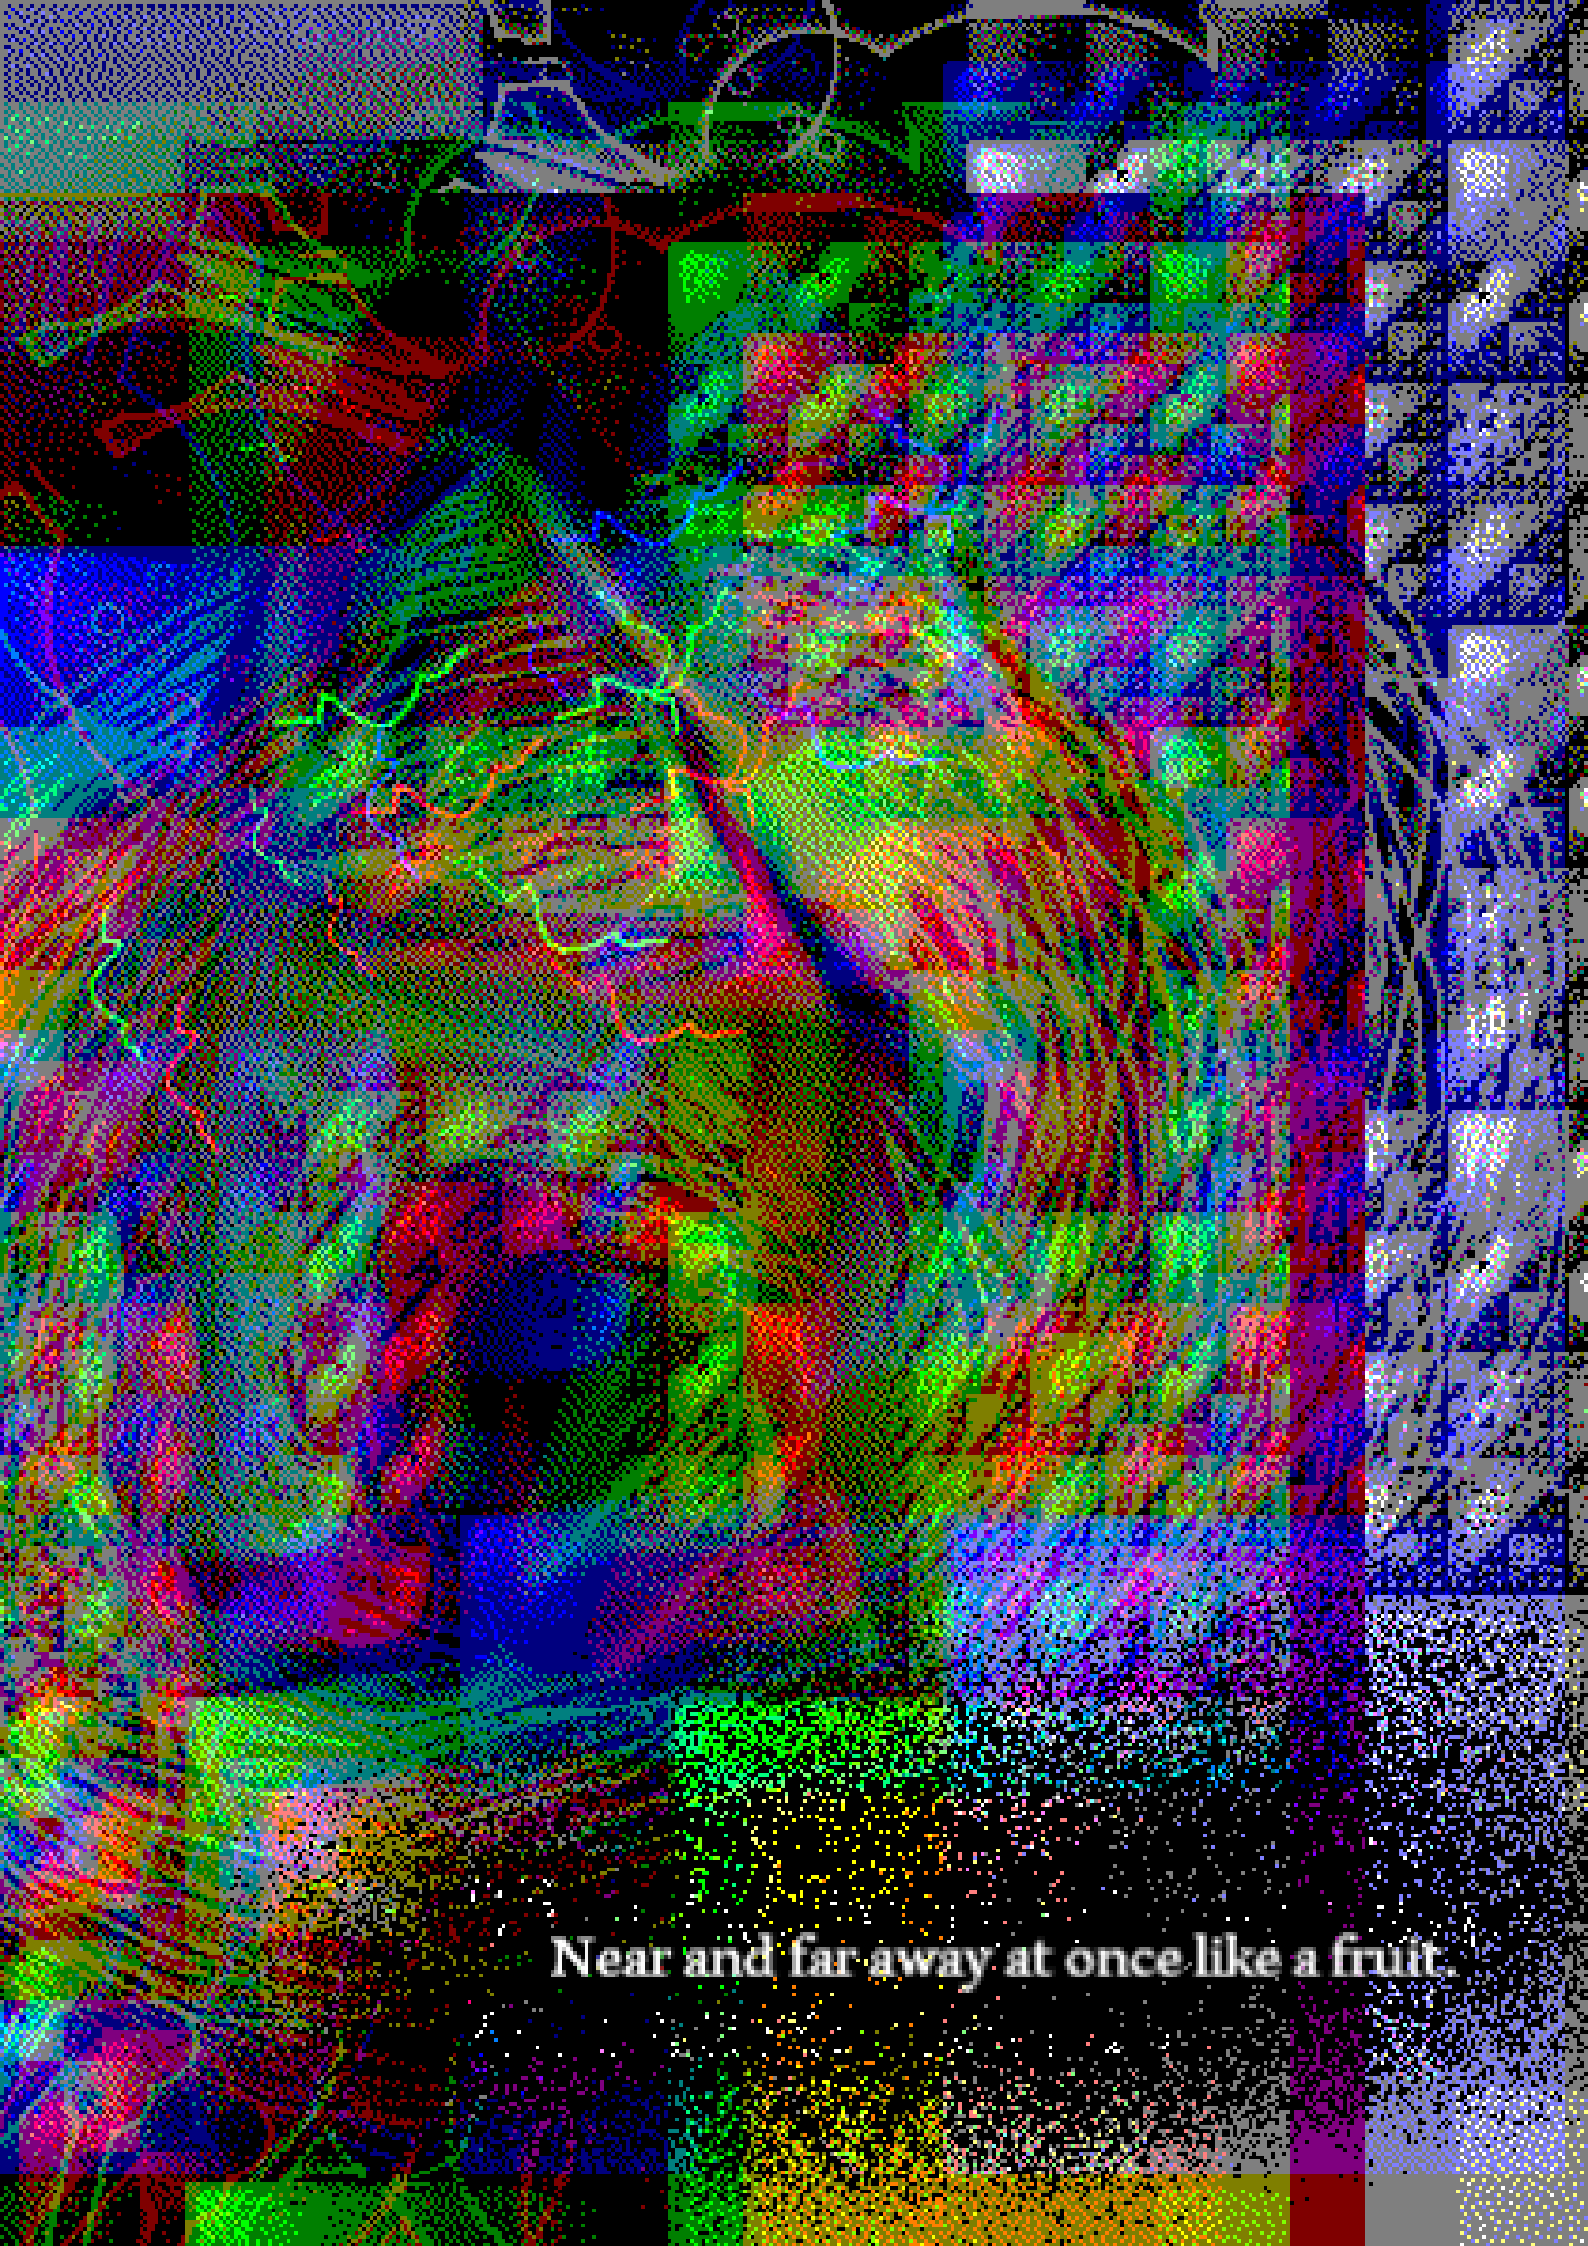

Lascivious carriage
horse in the head.

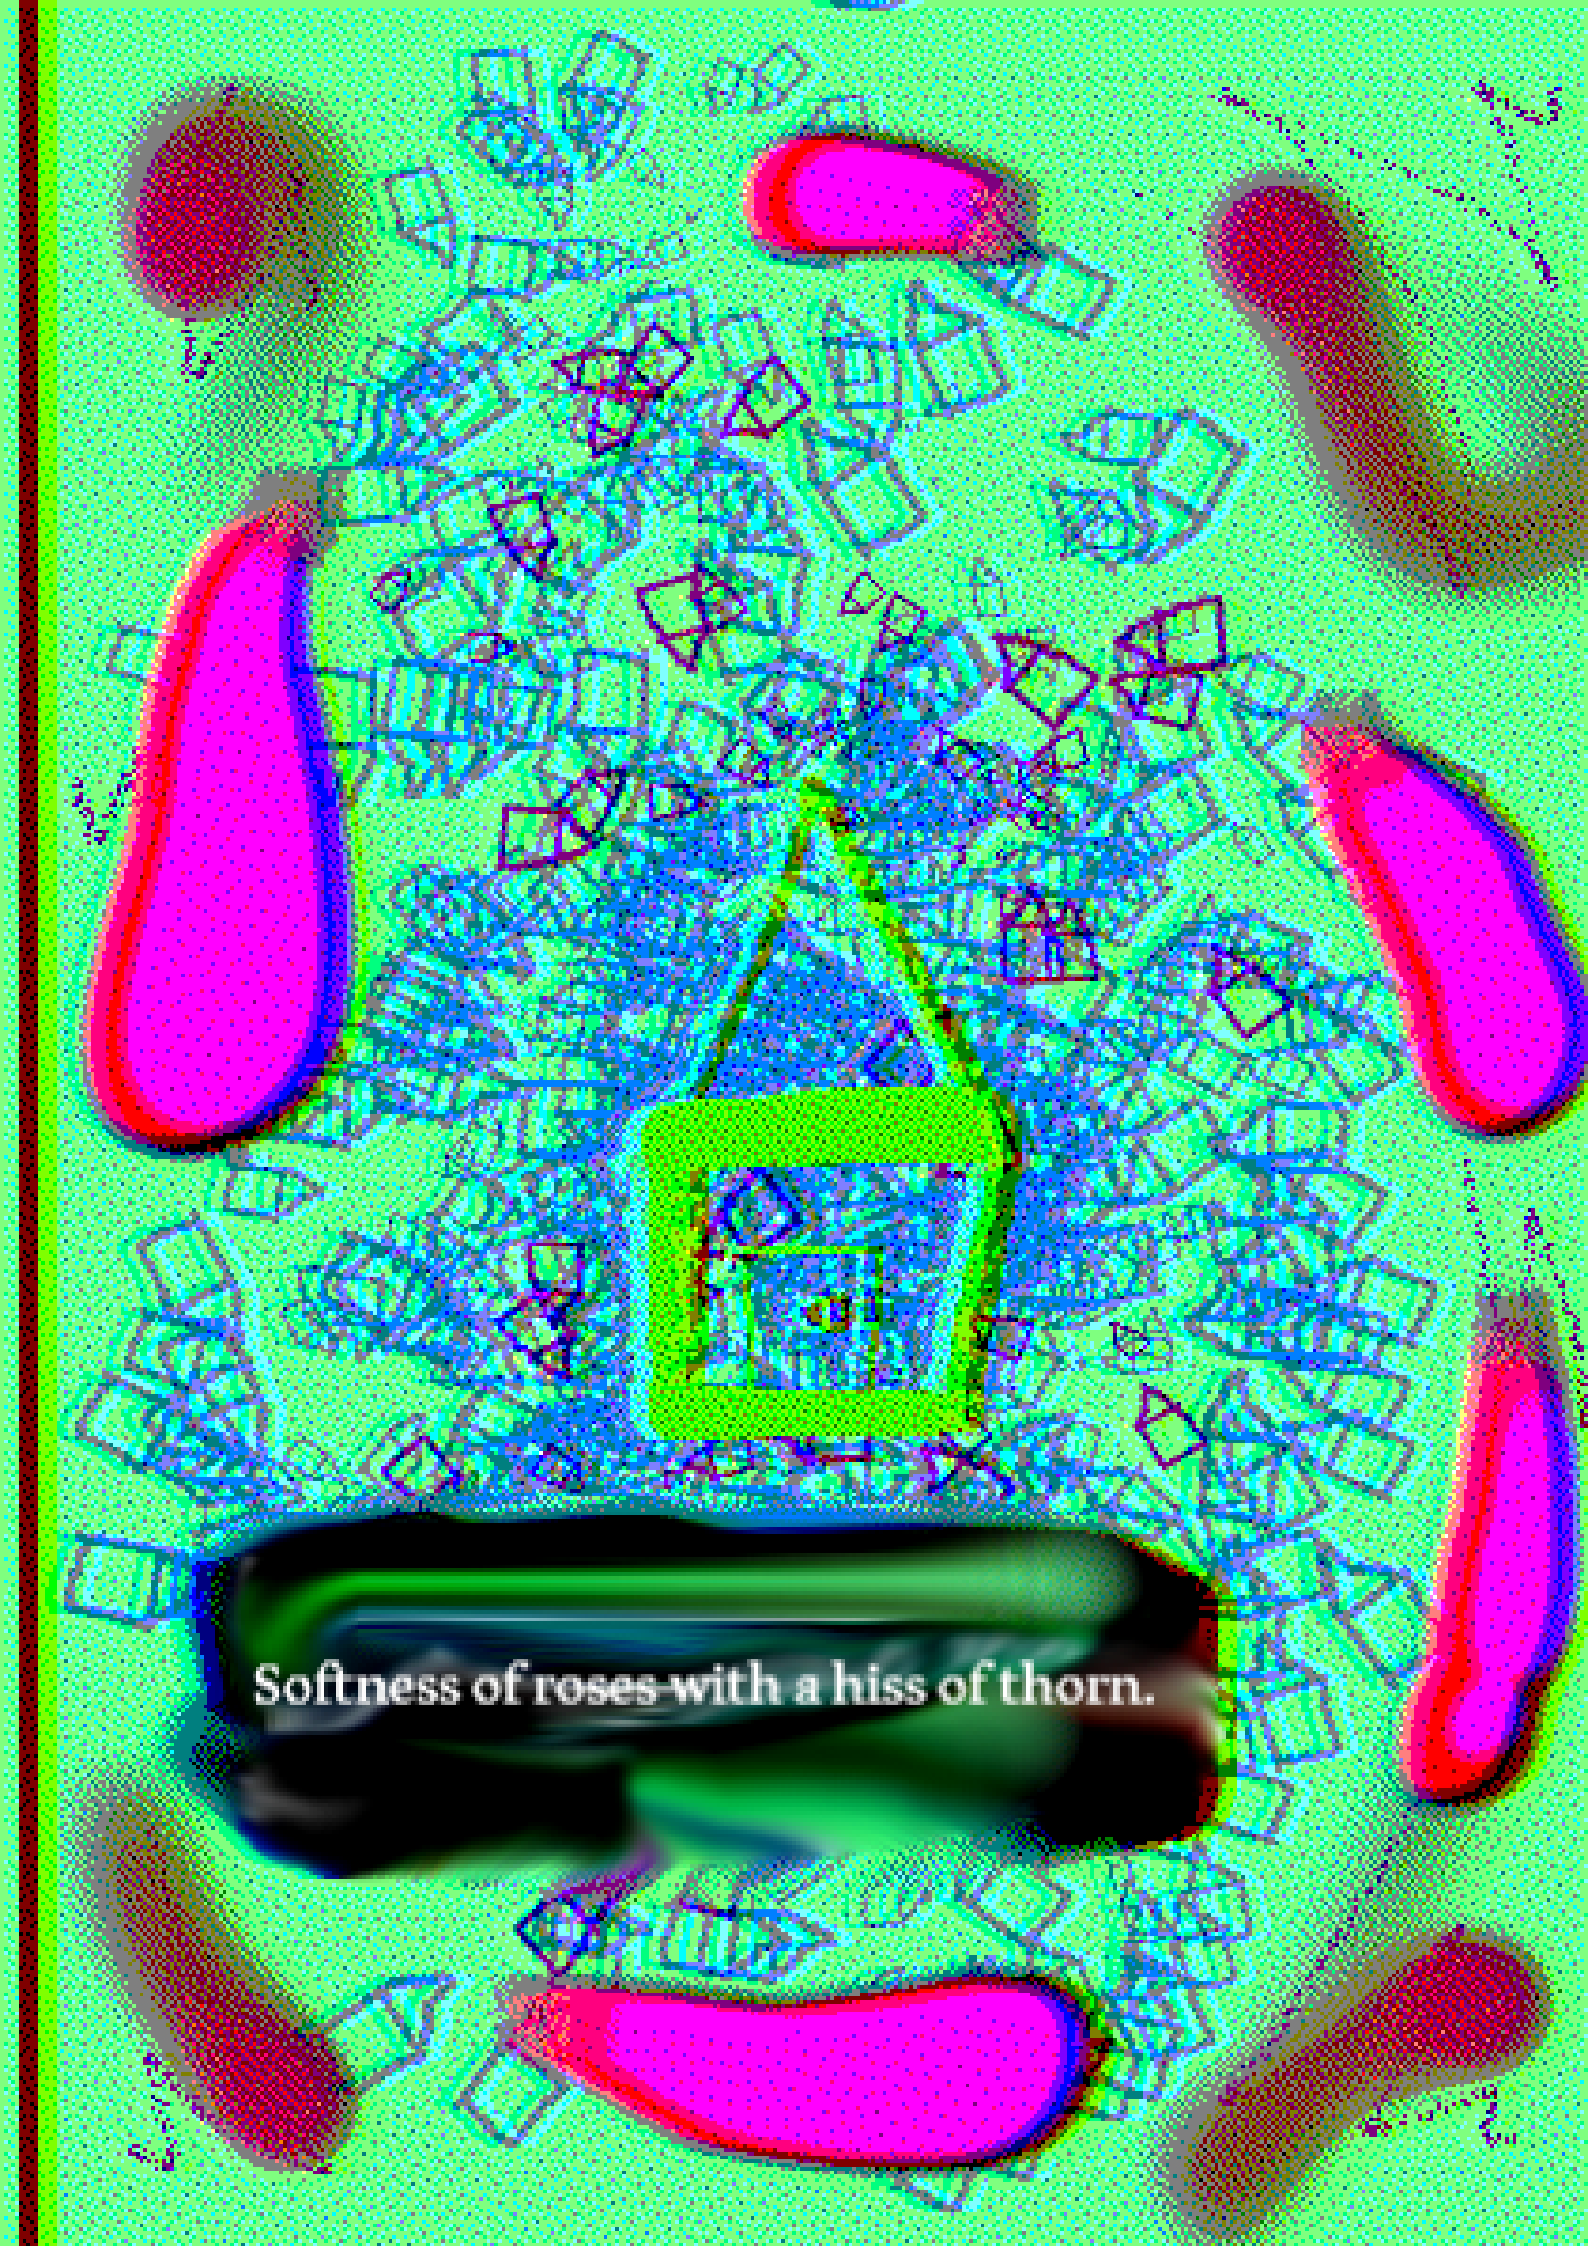

You forget the animal you ever were before.

© 2000 Warner Bros. Entertainment Inc.

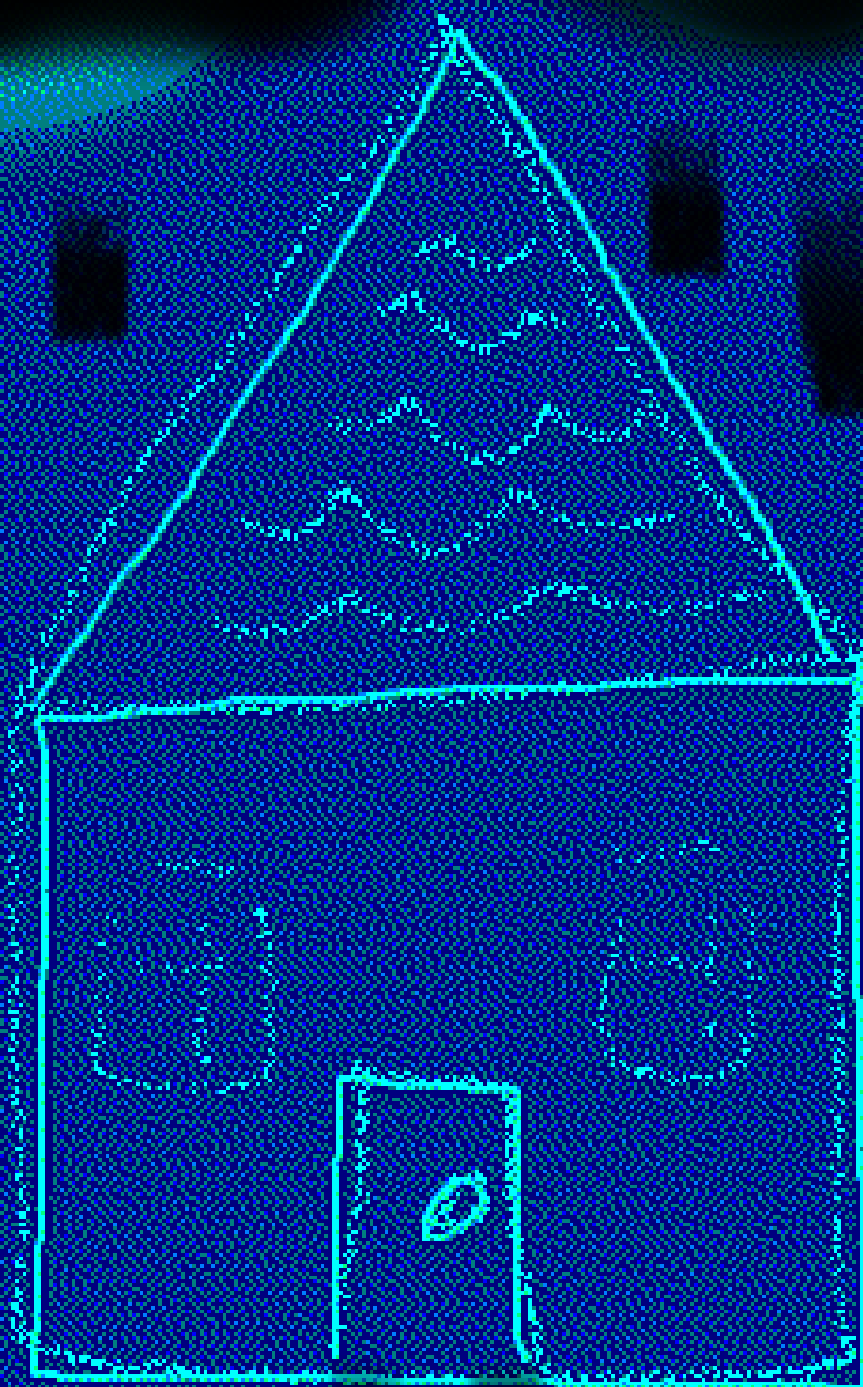

Near and far away at once like a fruit.

Softness of roses with a hiss of thorn.

ma
These are surgeries of blue desire.

Of course it's a love song what else do we know how to hear.

I forget who all you others are tonight.

A gingerbread house is the central focus, decorated with white icing. The roof is a dark brown color, and the walls are a lighter brown. The house has a pointed roof and a small arched doorway at the bottom center. The doorway is decorated with white icing. The house is set against a background of a blue sky with white clouds and a green landscape with rolling hills. The text is written in a simple, black, sans-serif font on a white rectangular sign that is placed in front of the house.

So many trying to be me all right I'll let them do it.

Heaven hat and no one hell and a rabbit near.

Look in the mirror till you see that face.

Then forget the one who does the looking.

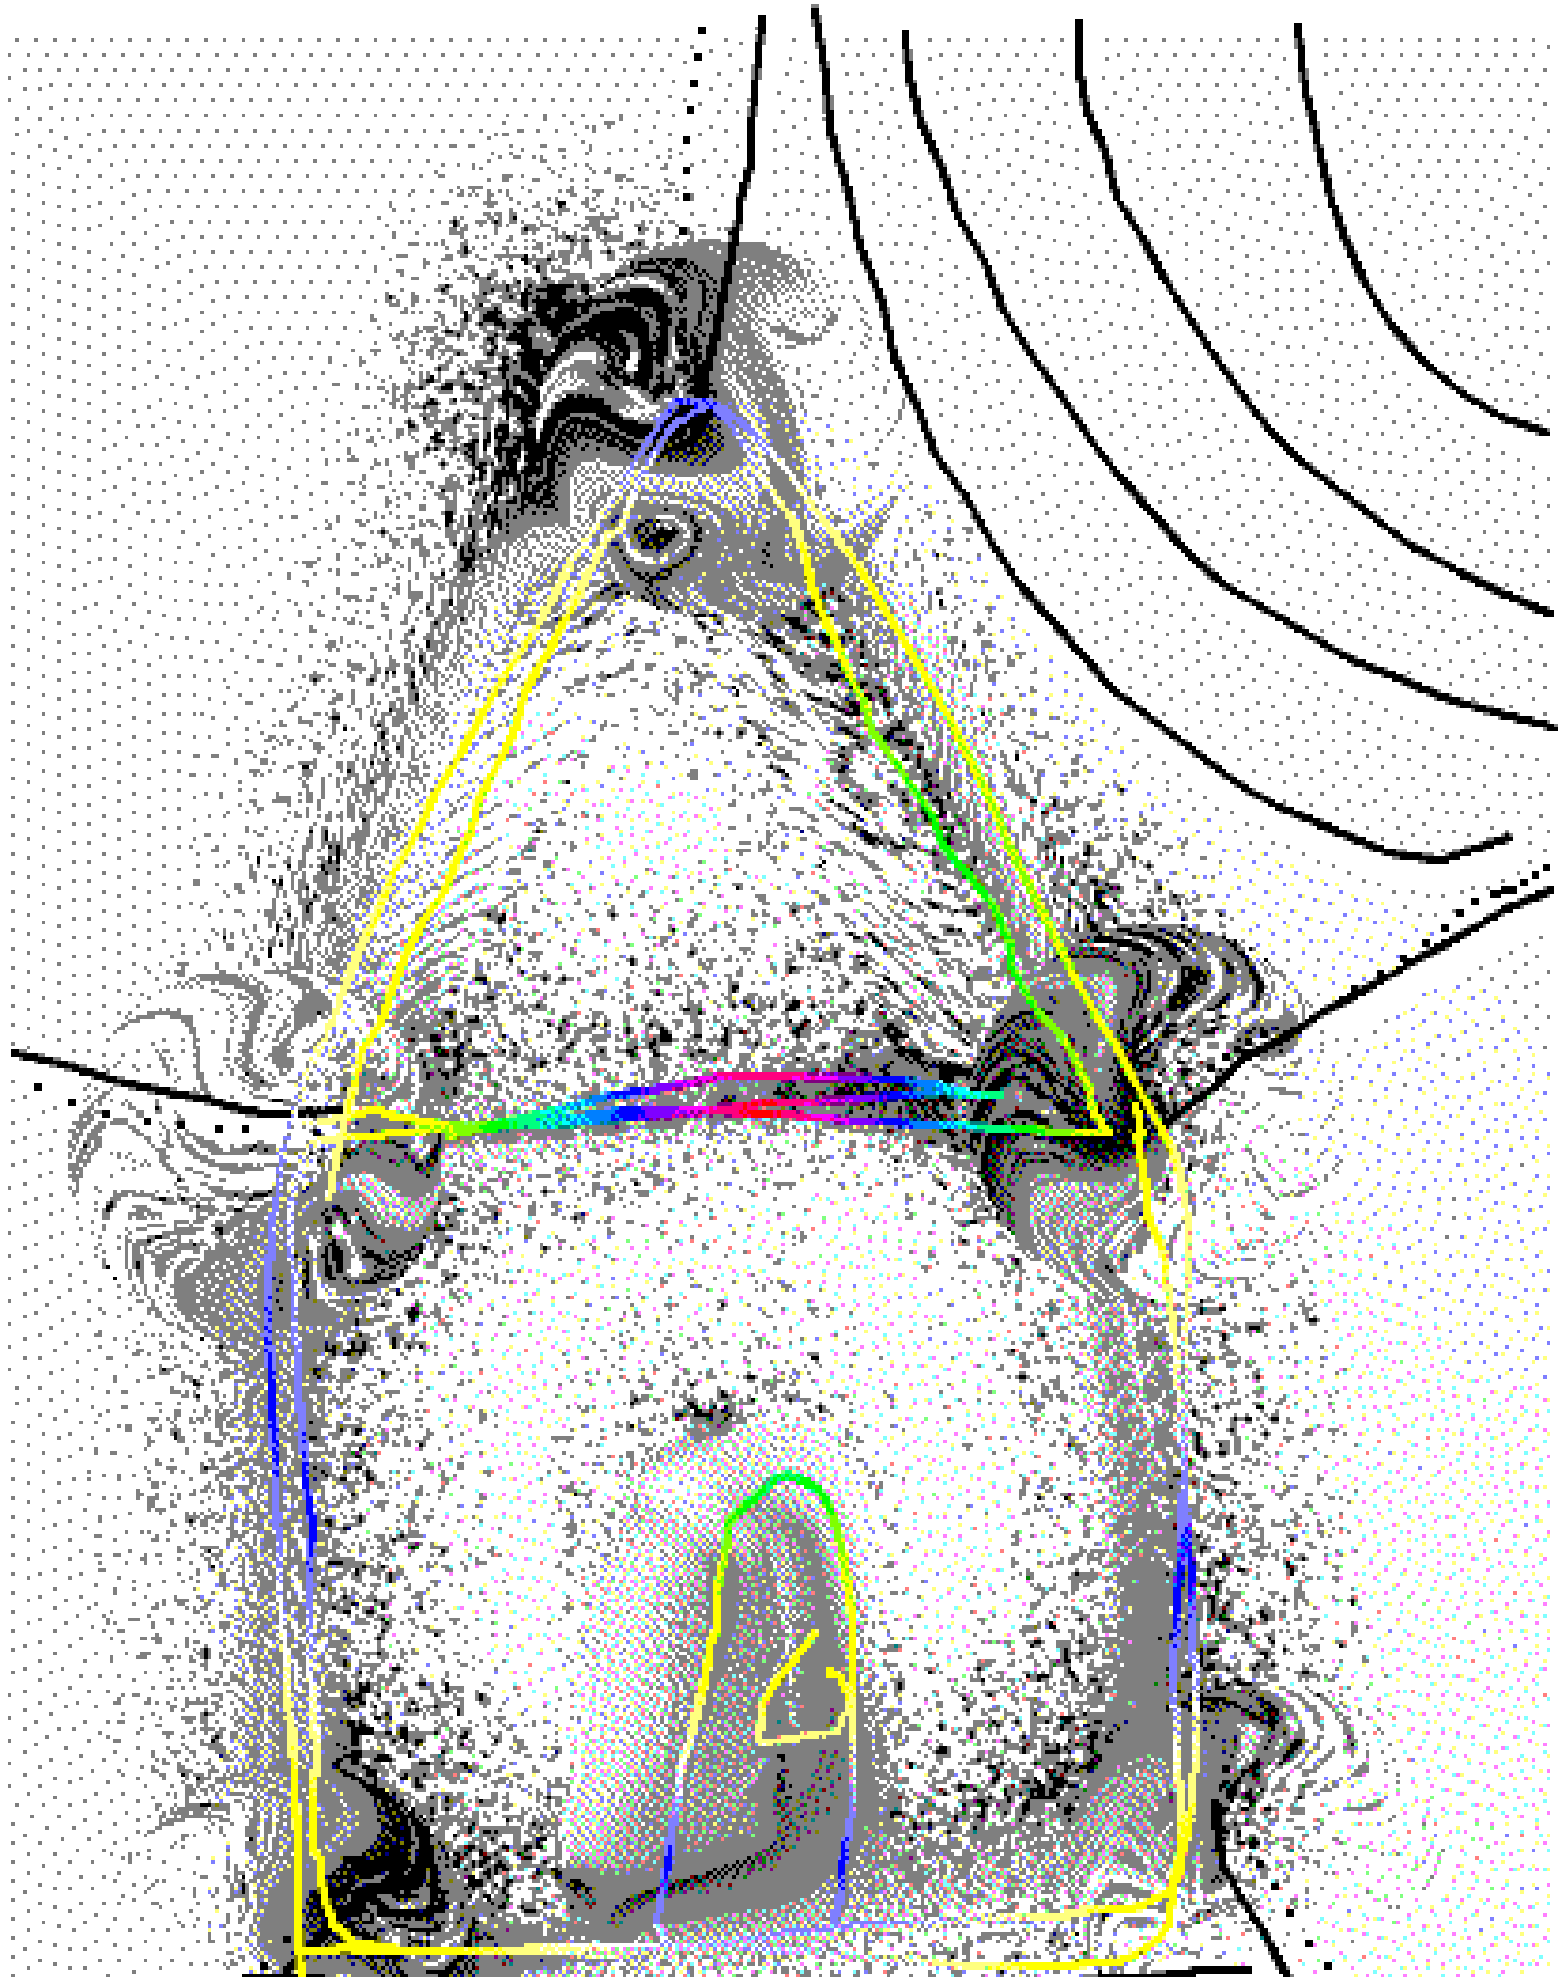

Something like home but further away.

They all are real and I am not
or just romantic music.

You thought the gods were ordinary girls.

They call them people they live in sun.

